

The American Institute of Architects
Continuing Education System
AIA/CES Registered Provider Program Summary

Provider:	Hughes & Associates (L161)
Presenter:	Yancey Hughes
Program #:	GL 003
Program:	Wood Plastic Composites – History and Influences on Current Modern Building Technologies
Length:	1 hour
Credits:	1 LU Hour HSW
HSW:	Yes
Description:	This program is designed to provide a thorough understanding of modern wood plastic composite technology and current project applications.
Learning Objectives:	(1) Define “wood plastic composites” (2) “Wood plastic composites” formulations and manufacturing process (3) Sustainable attributes of modern “wood plastic composites” (4) Current code standards for “wood plastic composites” and how they affect compliance under IBC and IRC
Course Format:	Instructor-led face-to-face
Target Audience:	Architects, specifiers, owners and other design professionals in residential and commercial markets
Cost:	Free